M. C. M. Graduates Scatter Widely.

If any prospective student is looking for a line of work that will give him a chance to visit the strange places of the earth, he can choose nothing more promising than mining engineering, if one is to judge from the present location of the graduates of the Michigan College of Mines. The trail of the M. C. M. graduate leads around the world, London, Glasgow, Tromso in Norway, Petrograd, Iglesias in Sardinia, Tokyo, Thames in New Zealand, Caracas, Santiago, Mexico City, Dawson. In 1914 there were 40 graduates of the College of Mines in Canada, 24 in Mexico, 8 in South America and 4 in Africa. Of course more of the men stay in Michigan than go into any other state; of the 647 graduates of the College then living, 181 were in Michigan. Minnesota was second with 57. But such far-away states as Arizona, California and New York were employing 55, 34, and 28 men respectively. By cities, Detroit led with 19, New York had 17, Chicago 16, Salt Lake City 11, Los Angeles 9 and Milwaukee 8.

The investigation as to origin of the fire that destroyed a large barn and contents, consisting of nineteen horses, eight veal calves, a large quantity of hay and grain and farm machinery on the Clark Barber farm near Hastings, Michigan, was made recently by a representative of the Fire Marshal Department. The owner of the property is inclined to the belief that an enemy fired the barn while a neighbor advances the theory that spontaneous combustion in the silo was responsible for the fire. The latter theory is the first of the kind to be brought to the attention of the Fire Marshal Department in this state. The silo, which of course, was built close to the barn, was of one hundred tons capacity and contained at the time of the fire a large amount of silage. The above mentioned neighbor stated that the day before the fire he examined the silo and found the contents very hot, in fact he claims that because of the heat he could keep his hand in the silage but a very few moments.

The Bride's Introduction.

They had been married only two weeks and were going to spend the evening with friends. They were to meet friends of their friends there. It was expected that there would necessarily be a show of dignity when the bride and groom and the bride arrived. All of the company were there and sitting around looking their sweetest when the bridegroom and the bride arrived. A choice always makes dignity essential.

It happened that the bridegroom was the particular friend of the host. The latter had never met the bride. She was coming into an entirely new circle. It was expected when the Newlyweds arrived that Mr. Newlywed would stammer and blush when he introduced Mrs. Newlywed to his wife. Not so for this boy. He sauntered in preceded by the dignified bride. Everybody in the parlor bristled up. But it wasn't to be a bristling affair at all. Mr. Newlywed simply swept around, caught the host by the arm and led him before the bride.

"Dave, meet the old lady," he said. Dignity exit. Everybody laughed and got acquainted in a hurry. The good natured introduction of the host to the bride loosened up the strings of social stress. The "old lady" found herself among friends.—Indianapolis News.

Noah Has His Own Troubles.

March 17 was celebrated in the middle ages as the day on which Noah entered the ark. Noah's wife was always the typical shrew of the period. In the Chester cycle when Noah tells her of the coming flood she sneers at him for his credulity and abuses him for always bringing bad news. "Bidden hold her tongue," her abuse only becomes more stinging. Noah strikes her, she hits back, and a good set-to ensues till the man retires to make the ark. When it is finished she refuses to enter. "Wife, come in," says Noah. "Why standest thou there?" Finally her sons bring her in by force and Noah welcomes her. "Welcome wife, unto this boat," and for his welcome he gets a whacking which makes him exclaim:

Lord! that women be crabbed aye!
And non are meke, I dare well saye.

The Largest Extinct Crater.

The people of Oregon doubt the assertion made by a writer on Hawaii that the extinct crater of Haleakala is by far the largest in the world. That crater is said to be seven and a half miles long by two and a third wide and about 2,000 feet deep. But in Crater Lake National park in southern Oregon, which became a national reservation in 1902, there is a crater about six miles long by four wide and 4,000 feet deep. The lake within it, which was discovered in 1853, has a surface of twenty and one-quarter square miles and a depth of 2,000 feet. Geologists say that the extinct volcano, in the vast crater of which this wonderful lake lies 6,177 feet above sea level, was a mountain more than 16,000 feet high, perhaps the highest peak on our western coast.—Youth's Companion.

Kazoo Child Attacked by Dog.

Kalamazoo, Mich., June 16.—Cora Feldes, six year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Feldes, is suffering from severe injuries received when attacked by an ugly dog. She was on her way home when the dog ran out in the street and knocked her down. Nearly all of the child's clothing was torn from her and she was frightfully bitten.

HOW WOMEN

AVOID

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cleveland, Ohio—"My left side pained me so for several years that I expected to have to undergo an operation, but the first bottle I took of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of the pains in my side and I continued its use until I became regular and free from pains. I had asked several doctors if there was anything I could take to help me and they said there was nothing that they knew of. I am thankful for such a good medicine and will always give it the highest praise."
—Mrs. C. H. GRIFFITH, 1568 Constant St., Cleveland, Ohio.

Hanover, Pa.—"I suffered from female trouble and the pains were so bad at times that I could not sit down. The doctor advised a severe operation but my husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I experienced great relief in a short time. Now I feel like a new person and can do a hard day's work and not mind it. What joy and happiness it is to be well once more. I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Compound."
—Mrs. ADA WILT, 303 Walnut St., Hanover, Pa.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.
